

FATE OF PARLEY HANGS IN BALANCE GENOA ANNOUNCES

Statesmen Fear Peace Ship Launched By Welshman Is Doomed.

PESSIMISTIC VIEW PREVAILS AT GENOA

Report That French Leader Will Quit, Heightens Feeling Of Gloom.

Rome, April 28.—The first concrete sign of the breakup of the Genoa economic conference, was contained in information received here this afternoon.

M. Barthou, chief of the French delegation at Genoa, was reported to have announced that he will go to Paris to report to the French cabinet which is in disagreement over Premier Poincaré's refusal to attend the Versailles signatories meeting.

The Italian information regarding Barthou's move was accompanied by a statement that there is grave doubt whether the French vice premier will ever return to Genoa.

Gloom Prevails
Genoa, April 28.—An air of tense expectancy and uncertainty hung over the Genoa conference today.

Whether the peace ship launched so hopefully by Lloyd George will sink or float is expected to be determined within the next 48 hours. The world statesmen gathered here are about evenly divided as to chances, with possibly the majority believing the vessel is doomed.

The indomitable little Welshman has weathered so many crises in the 19 days of the parley that some observers believed his ambitious effort is doomed to failure in the latest crisis.

A most pessimistic view prevailed here today as a result of the decision of Premier Poincaré not to come to Genoa to attend the meeting of signatories to the Versailles treaty. That the French decision widened the already wide breach between British and French policy was generally admitted.

The expected completion and delivery to Russia of the allied note stating definitely the conditions under which the soviet will be admitted to the diplomatic society of nations, was the chief item on today's program.

But this important, as it is, is dwarfed in the minds of the scores of delegates and hundreds of diplomatic and financial observers, by the various state of the life of the conference itself.

FIRST C.C. OPEN FORUM LUNCHEON IS ARRANGED FOR TUESDAY EVENING

Invitations were mailed out Friday to 300 members of the Salem Chamber of Commerce for the first of the series of monthly luncheons and business meetings, Tuesday evening, May 2, in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

Everybody will be given a chance to hear about what the organization is doing and also will have the privilege of offering constructive suggestions as to what should be done in the future.

President Charles H. Cobourn will officiate as toastmaster. Reports will be presented and plans outlined by the following committee chairmen: Water, Harry A. Gager; membership, Walter L. Strain; publicity, Ralph W. Hawley; industrial, L. P. Metzger; municipal, Harry W. Young; transportation, A. O. Silver; entertainment, W. L. Deming; legislation, K. L. Cobourn; education, L. B. French.

These meetings, which will be in the nature of an open forum, will continue to be held on the first Tuesday of each month as called for in the Chamber of Commerce by-laws. Owing to the interest shown recently in the activities of the chamber, it is believed that they will result in increasing the efficiency of the organization as a factor in community life.

STUDENTS MAKE TRIP WITH DEBATING TEAM

At a rally at the High school Friday morning to arouse enthusiasm in the debate Friday night at Rayen school, Youngstown, the support of the student body was promised and a large number of students will accompany the team.

The debate will be on the question, "Resolved, That the application of the principle of the open shop would best serve the interests of the American people."

SALEM DEBATERS WIN OPEN SHOP ARGUMENT

Unanimous Decision Of Judges Gives Salem's Affirmative Team Victory Over Negative Team From Rayen; Both Display Unusual Ability.

The principle of the open shop was upheld in such a masterly way by Salem High school's affirmative team Thursday night at the auditorium that the judges gave it the unanimous decision over Rayen High of Youngstown.

Members of both teams displayed unusual ability in the presentation of arguments, but the Salem team was especially well balanced, each debater being at ease, speaking distinctly and coherently.

The winning team of Salem High school is composed of William Juergens, Frank Kille and Capt. Albert Knauf, with Miss Mary Louise Astry as alternate. Louis Gebman, S. O. Ozersky and Capt. Raymond Keri compose the Rayen team, with Myron Roberts as alternate.

The judges were J. D. McKee, of Wooster, Supt. F. F. Gager of East Liverpool and R. G. Harshman of Alliance.

Subject Is Defined
In debating the question, "Resolved, That the application of the principle of the open shop would best serve the interests of the American people," the teams were provided with the definition that "an open shop is a shop in which union and non-union men may work side by side."

This phase of the question was brought out clearly in the final rebuttal by the affirmative in refuting some arguments produced by the negative which sought to show that the open shop tended to exclude union men, some existing examples being cited. The affirmative answered that such a shop was really a closed shop, which was no subject to debate on this occasion.

The negative contended that the union recognizes the right of collective bargaining, is productive of higher wages and better conditions for the laborer, thereby benefiting the entire public. An open shop, with non-union men working side by side with union men, weakens the union, Rayen contended, gives the employer powers which crush labor and undermines the whole structure of industrial peace and order.

The open shop is the most efficient, benefits the most people concerned and upholds the spirit of democracy, according to the arguments of the Salem team. The open shop prevents a monopoly on labor through union restrictions, the affirmative continued, gives the employer freedom to hire efficient workmen and therefore results in increased production. It retains the union, the affirmative argued, for the benefit of the workman's condition, but banishes the idea that the union represents all classes of men.

Delivery Is Excellent
While this was the first test for Salem High school's debating team, it demonstrated the fact that all three speakers can handle themselves well in an argument and that they are forceful speakers. The team work which they displayed in presenting their case and in offsetting arguments of the negative team was worthy of great praise.

C. T. Brooks presided over the program, which included two excellent declamations by Genevieve Barker of Salem and Jeannette O'Dea of Youngstown and selections by the High school orchestra.

Friday night Salem's negative team will debate Rayen's affirmative team at Youngstown, using the same subject. The Salem team is composed of George Bunn, Kay Liber and Dallas Hanna, with Edward Heck as alternate.

Liquor dealers are not taking any chances in passing their wares over the counter as openly as in the past, officials state. Many who were engaged in the manufacture of liquor have ceased following their arrest and payment of fines ranging from $200 to $500, police declare.

In his formal declaration of candidacy Col. Thompson was silent on state issues, and considerable interest is being shown in the position he will take on state affairs.

THOMPSON TO OUTLINE CAMPAIGN PLATFORM

Cleveland, April 28.—More than 1500 guests from 20 or more counties in Ohio are expected to sit down to the "dollar dinner" at the Masonic auditorium tonight, at which Col. Carmi A. Thompson of Euclid village, will outline the platform upon which he will seek the Republican nomination for governor.

Two eastbound train schedules are changed. No. 312, Cleveland flyer will arrive at 9:59 instead of 9:57 a. m. No. 1450, flag stop for passengers beyond Harrisburg, will arrive at 8:25 instead of 8:30 p. m.

REDUCE CASH BONUS, PLAN OF SENATORS

Leaders See Bill Financed Without Heavy Drain On Treasury.

Washington, April 28.—Senator Lodge and other Republican leaders are of the opinion that whatever soldiers' bonus plan is adopted finally can be readily financed without imposing a serious drain upon the treasury, it was ascertained from official sources today.

The cut of $3,250,000,000 which it was said had been made in the national debt since 1919 has left them convinced that the deficit of $250,000,000 or even $500,000,000 Secretary Mellon stated recently was threatening the country, should not stand as an argument that the government cannot afford to take care of the bonuses.

They believe that the bonus can easily be provided for by the issuance of additional certificates of indebtedness, for which the treasury was given ample authorization by the Liberty bond and Victory note acts, until such time as interest payments on the British debt become available.

It was predicted that this method of financing the bonus would be adopted eventually. It is the purpose, however, of Senator McCumber and other Republican members of the senate finance committee to reduce the amount that would have to be provided immediately for the bonus as much as possible, and to provide a bonus plan that would interfere the least with the treasury's funding operations next year, it was stated.

By restricting the cash bonus to those entitled to $50 or less, as provided by the house bill, it was estimated that but $16,000,000 would be needed for that purpose.

VILLAGE THREATENED BY BIG FOREST FIRE

Hazleton, Pa., April 28.—A forest fire, which blazed all last night on Broad mountain between Mauch Chunk and Hedonville, destroying thousands of dollars' worth of property and timber, is today threatening the village of Lansford. Careless sportsmen are believed to have caused the blaze.

Women Honor Wilson

Washington, April 28.—For the first time since Armistice day, Nov. 11, Woodrow Wilson will emerge this afternoon from the seclusion of his S. at home to greet thousands of women who will gather there to pay him homage.

The demonstration will be led by Lady Nancy Astor and Bishop Samuel Fallows of Chicago, delegates to the woman's Pan-American conference. The National League of Women Voters, whose convention was just concluded in Baltimore, will take part in the pilgrimage at the Wilson home.

STEAMER'S DECK TAMPERED WITH, PROBERS LEARN

Supports Which Collapsed Were Made Insecure, Rumor Says.

44 PASSENGERS HURT, BOY IS NEAR DEATH

Grant Celebration Marred Change In Plans Saves President's Life.

Cincinnati, April 28.—Capt. George W. Dameron of the U. S. inspection service, began an investigation this morning of a report that the collapse of the third deck of the Island Queen, while the steamer was carrying 2,500 passengers to the Grant centennial celebration at Point Pleasant yesterday, was due to the supports of the deck being tampered with and weakened by some unknown individual.

Capt. Edward Patterson, steamer commander, said that he believed the supports which collapsed had been made insecure by some person who gained access to them within the last week.

The accident resulted in probable fatal injuries to Wilbur Morgan, member of the boys' band, Manchester, O., who was caught beneath the wreckage, and slight injuries to about 45 city officials and selected guests. The boy was reported to be dying at a local hospital this morning.

Changed Harding's Plans
The Island Queen was inspected and pronounced safe by Capt. John K. Peyton of the U. S. inspection service on April 12.

Capt. Dameron refused to comment on the fact that at the eleventh hour plans had been changed so that President Harding, who was scheduled to make the trip to Point Pleasant aboard the Island Queen, went up the river on the Cayuga, a government boat. The cabins which had been reserved for the president on the Island Queen were directly under the deck which collapsed.

Capt. Dameron said that he had formed no theory, but would make a thorough investigation of the affair. According to reports, Attorney General Harry L. Daugherty requested that a complete report be sent to him.

President Affected
Aboard President Harding's train, April 28.—President Harding's first statement when he arose this morning on the train that is taking him back to Washington from Cincinnati was that he earnestly hoped for the recovery of little Wilbur Morgan, the 16-year-old boy who lies at the threshold of death as a result of the fatal collapse of the upper deck of the steamer Island Queen.

A cloud of sadness hung over members of the presidential party as they breakfasted on the train, their conversation being confined almost entirely to the catastrophe that marred the Grant centennial celebration at Point Pleasant.

Credit was freely given to the secret service men of the White House detail for having cancelled the plans whereby the president was to have traveled from Cincinnati to Point Pleasant on the ill-fated steamer Island Queen.

Oles Considers Postponing His State Campaign

Youngstown, April 28.—Mayor George L. Oles today admitted that he is considering withdrawing from the race for governor of Ohio this year.

"I have 20 months yet to serve as mayor," he said today, "and the condition of the city finances is such that a fearless man is needed at the head of city affairs. So I am considering postponement of my governorship campaign for two years. I will make a final decision in about a week."

MILITANTS GO TO CHURCH

Salem canton No. 11, Patriarchs Militant, in full uniform will accompany Amity lodge No. 124, I. O. O. F. to the morning service Sunday at the Christian church, in celebration of the 102nd anniversary of the founding of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows. Members of the canton will meet Friday evening for special drill.

Claims He Was Framed, Will Appeal Booze Case Verdict

A reversal of verdict in the case of the state against Nick Lampros, fined $200 by Mayor John W. Post for illegal possession of intoxicating liquor, was sought Friday afternoon in mayor's court by attorneys for the defendant.

Mayor Post refused to alter the fine and it is understood the case will be brought before common pleas court at Lisbon by Lampros who alleges that he was framed, the liquor being hidden in his place of business on Main st. without his knowledge.

Lampros' place of business was raided April 12 by police authorities and one pint of raisin jack and one-half pint of bonded whiskey were found in the flush tank of a water closet in the rear of the building.

DEMAND ALL DATA FROM OPERATORS

Probers In Congress Will Order Trade Secrets Be Revealed.

Washington, April 28.—Congress is preparing to take drastic measure to compel coal operators to lay open to public scrutiny every phase of their business, including "trade secrets."

This became definitely known today as the house labor committee began its concluding work. Hearings will be finished at once and the committee will begin immediate consideration of the Bland bill.

This measure provides for creation of a federal coal investigation agency vested with every conceivable power to enable it to get at the basic reasons for continued tieups and recommend to congress a permanent remedy.

After weeks of investigation into the strike, members of the committee today unhesitatingly declared operators who have testified in the inquiry had indicated a tendency to be evasive whenever data on production costs and profits were sought.

To correct this tendency the Bland bill will have its legislative teeth sharpened in the next few days before the committee reports it to the house for consideration.

Upon the coal operators of the country rests the sole responsibility of the nearly month-old nationwide coal strike, it was charged today by Chairman Nolan of the house labor committee.

Nolan, indicting the operators, declared that the strike is undoubtedly due to ineffectual efforts to prevent a lowering of coal prices. He denied, however, that there was any evidence of any conspiracy among operators to this end.

South Side Wins Contest Staged By Odd Fellows

The South Side brought the most members to the meeting of Amity lodge No. 124, I. O. O. F. Thursday night, an otherwise won attendance contest that was started four months ago. Up to this week the North and South Sides were tied.

Thursday night 85 members residing on the South Side and 85 on the North Side were present. In the four months the North Side attendance was 655, the South Side 654.

Next Sunday morning members of the lodge will attend service at First Christian church, Rev. H. L. Miller will preach a special sermon on the occasion of the 102nd anniversary of the order. Members of the Lisbon lodge will join in this service.

Talks To Pupils About Gen. Grant

Later a short patriotic program was given in the hall for which all the grades joined.

CITY RECEIVING COAL FOR PUMPING STATION

With a surplus coal supply sufficient to last two weeks and amounts equal to the consumption in 24 hours received daily at the municipal waterworks pumping station, the plant will continue to operate indefinitely despite the coal strike. Service Director Bristol announced Friday. Two loads of coal are received daily from the Pascola Coal company.

Other plants report they have sufficient coal on hand to operate for a month or more.

Small banks privately operated produce enough coal to supply demands from homes and will be able to take care of some manufacturing plants.

The strike in the mines surrounding Salem is reported to be still effective.

200 See Little Girls In Playlet

Margaret Holdredge and Vivian Cowgill took the leading parts in the play entitled "One Who Dreams," given by the little girls of Mrs. Raymond Fletcher's class of the M. E. church Thursday evening at the church for the benefit of the talent fund to a company of about 200 people.

The play was a credit to the little folks as they took their parts remarkably well. The story portrayed was that of a little girl who was sorely tempted to break a promise, but who resisted all temptations which were forced upon her.

Rev. H. H. Scott gave a talk and Luther Smith offered a piano duet.

The Coal Mine Problem

JOHN BROPHY, president of District No. 2, United Mine Workers of America, disputes the government's estimate that bituminous miners made an average annual wage last year of $1,357. He says the earnings of union workers in the great coal mining region of Central Pennsylvania averaged an actual $760 in 1921, or $14.60 a week. But if his figures are right because, as he declares, there was scarcely more than two days of work a week to the man, they show that the wage scale and the whole soft coal mining system are emphatically wrong.

Or what use to the union workers is a sky high wage scale that gives them low water earnings. In the intensely competitive soft coal fields the non-union miners at a low scale averaged much higher earnings than Brophy's union men earned, because the non-union mines could give their labor more work. The non-union mines could give their labor the work because they could sell their coal because at the lower costs of mining it they could put it on the market at lower prices than the union mines at their higher costs of mining could put their coal on the market.

But, when all is said and done, the mere recital of these facts offers no solution of the persistently grave coal problem which harasses the nation year after year, generation after generation.

What the coal mines need, union as well as non-union, is a chance to do business on a reasonable basis. What the miners need are steady jobs at a square day's pay for a square day's work, six days in the week. What the country needs is a constant and adequate supply of coal at prices that will permit the industries of the North, South, East and West to use it.

None of this is possible as a continuous operation and stable system under the present chaotic conditions of the bituminous mining industry. But all of it can be made possible and it can be made workable through a complete reorganization of the industry.

Minority Rule

WHEN Detroit voted recently on a proposition to purchase the city lines of the Detroit United Railways and begin an elaborate test of municipal ownership and operation of transportation, less than one-third of the legal voters of the city took part in the election.

There will be about $30,000,000 invested in the traction system when the city plans are completed. That will represent a debt of the city that will have to be paid by the property owners. Yet they were indifferent when the question was up for decision.

Detroit claims a voting population of 250,000. There were fewer than 75,000 votes cast in the special election on the purchase of the railway property. Of those cast, less than 60,000 favored the plan to purchase the property. The figures show that less than 25 per cent of the voters were able to commit the city to municipal ownership with an enormous debt that must be shared by every taxpayer.

Those who rail at government being unresponsive to the public needs, and decry the quality of talent that is found in points of municipal authority, may read in the figures from Detroit how easy it is for a persistent minority to secure control, when the majority is indifferent and inattentive.

There is no phase of political life more plainly in evidence than the indifference of voters to municipal matters. Men and women will not go to the polls and vote their wishes on important local matters. If Detroit wakes up some fine morning disappointed and dissatisfied with her load of debt and the results from her municipal venture, the big majority of taxpayers will have no one but themselves to blame.

20 YEARS AGO

(Issue of April 28, 1902)

Salem posters in conjunction with those of Sabring and East Palestine will hold a big outing Monday, June 2, at Rock Springs, near East Liverpool. J. D. Bailey of the Salem China company is chairman of the joint picnic committee.

At the present time many Salem people have sore throat and sore throats in the back of the head, and the peculiar part of it is that all are afflicted alike. Physicians are inclined to believe that the complaint is not an epidemic, but just old-fashioned neckache and sore throat.

C. Osman, the baker, appeared on the streets this morning in a fine new delivery wagon, which was built to order.

Frank B. Dyer, principal of the Salem High school about 1890-91, and assistant superintendent of schools for the last two years at Cincinnati, has been appointed dean of the new state normal school at Oxford.

Members of the Alliance Tailors' union, who went out yesterday morning because their employers had not signed the scale, will go back to work Wednesday morning, a satisfactory agreement having been reached.

Household goods of George S. Bare Depot st. were shipped today to Youngstown, where Mr. Bare has been for some time.

Martin Weinreich is moving from Salem to South Sharon, where he has secured a position.

A few friends of Will N. Crumrine surprised him at his home last evening.

Mrs. Diliwyn Stratton, Winona, is planning to go to South Carolina to take up religious work among the colored people.

WHY WOMEN GET DESPONDENT

Are not women naturally, as light-hearted, brave and hopeful as men? Yes, certainly; but a woman's organism is essentially different from a man's—more delicate, more sensitive and more exacting. Women in delicate health are more dependent, more nervous, more irritable and more despondent. When a woman develops nervousness, sleeplessness, backaches, headaches, dragging-down pains and melancholia she should lose no time in giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial, as it will quickly dispel such troubles. This root and herb medicine contains no drugs and has been the standby of American womanhood for nearly fifty years.

RAP AT MODERN PREACHERS

Bishop Denny Tells Good Story in Which Distinct Moral Is Not Too Well Hidden.

Bishop Collins Denny said in an address in Richmond:

"I heard a story the other day that hits a good many preachers. It seems that the janitor of a fashionable church was showing his wife through the edifice. At the end of the inspection he said to her:

"Would you like to hear me preach?"

"Go on! You can't preach!" she objected.

"Can't I, though?" said the janitor, and he went up into the pulpit and ranted and roared and raged a good 20 minutes or more about the vile sins committed daily by the heathen in equatorial Africa.

"Then when he finished, he said, as he came down, wiping his hot face:

"There; how was that for a sermon?"

"It was mighty fine," said his wife.

"But you told me about the sins of the natives away off in Africa and never a word about the sins of the folks right here at home."

"The janitor chuckled.

"That's all," he said. "I know the tricks of preaching too well for that."

LEETONIA MAN RECALLS INCIDENT OF WAR DAYS WHICH AMUSED GRANT

Contrary to general belief that President Ulysses Grant was never known to laugh is the story told by Leetonia, Adams, one of the hair dressers (Civil war veterans) living in Leetonia, Adams, while serving with the northern army in Virginia in 1864, was privileged in seeing the war president enjoy one of the heartiest laughs that any man could.

Assigned to duty on a river boat to transport lumber, Adams and his comrades captured a two-year-old heifer which they had loaded on the boat. Arriving at the landing stage at City Point, Va., some difficulty was encountered in unloading the heifer.

A rough gangway was constructed and attempts were made to force the heifer to walk the plank. Heifer and men struggled. Just when the struggle was at its height President Grant appeared. As if aware of the distinguished personage, the heifer decided to give a special show. With a twist of its body it threw its human loaders into the river, sent the plank after them and, at the same time, jumped clear to shore.

President Grant, says Adams, rocked with laughter at the antics of the heifer and his men.

MEN HURLED INTO AIR, 10 INJURED SERIOUSLY BY EXPLOSION OF GAS

Detroit, April 28.—Ten men were seriously injured, one so badly he may die, and $25,000 damage was inflicted today in a blast which partially wrecked the acetylene welding department of the West Side plant of the Fisher Body company.

Ray Lynch, production manager, said the explosion had been caused by a workman throwing aside a tank of acetylene he believed to be exhausted and neglecting to close the valve.

A new tank was substituted and gas remaining in the huge cylinder exploded with a force that threw the men high in the air, brought down shafting and machinery and smashed practically all of the windows in the welding plant.

SOCIAL WORKER RELATES WORK AMONG BOHEMIANS

Miss Bessie Pehotsky, Christian social worker in Cleveland, was the guest of the Umstead class of the Christian church Thursday night, entertaining the members and their friends with an account of her work.

A interesting account of these people was given by Miss Pehotsky, who is a finished reader and orator. She told with a humorous trend of the patience required to carry on this work and of the systems followed by the Cleveland workers.

Following other numbers on the program Miss Pehotsky was called upon for a reading which was given with much expression. A social time was enjoyed in the later hours and refreshments were served by the social committee.

PIONEER OF CANFIELD EXPIRES AT 95 YEARS

Martin Neff, regarded as one of the oldest residents of Mahoning county, died at his home at Canfield Wednesday evening in his 95th year. Pneumonia following an extended illness brought death. He had resided at his late home practically his entire life, being probably the best known farmer resident in that part of the county.

Mr. Neff was born near Canfield March 25, 1827, son of the late John and Elizabeth Kline Neff, pioneer settlers. He completed the public school primary grades and later took up farming. At the time of his retirement about 20 years ago he was generally regarded as one of the most prosperous and successful farmers in the county.

He was married April 5, 1848, to Catherine Wilson, now deceased. Three children survive: John E. Neff,

A Quality Statement

The economical value of paint should be estimated by dividing the total cost of painting and repainting in a given period by the number of years of service, thus obtaining the average cost per year of paint and painting. The measure or value of a paint is not what you pay for a gallon, but what that gallon will do. It costs you as much to apply a poor paint as a good one, and the cost of application is much more than the cost of material used. We are here to serve you with Lowe Brothers High Standard Paint, the very best paint made.

DISCOVER GIRL'S BODY IN CHURCH BASEMENT, MYSTERY STIRS TOWN

Hoopstown, Ill., April 23.—Discovery of the body of Miss Gertrude Hanna, 25, lying on a narrow ledge in the basement of the vacant United Presbyterian parsonage, had shaken this town to its foundation and provided the authorities with a mystery that may prove difficult of solution.
Whether Miss Hanna was murdered or ended her own life has not been determined. Whether she met her death in the basement of the parsonage or was brought there after being slain is another puzzling angle of the mystery.
The length of time she has been dead, whether she died by poison or through some other means and the reason for her slaying or suicide are other phases that future developments must answer.
Miss Hanna's body was found late yesterday by a carpenter who was engaged in preparing the parsonage for the occupancy of a new pastor.

WALLACE-SNYDER BOUT IS DRAW; ELKS WATCH BEAGLE IN FAST MATCH

Bobby Wallace of Alliance and "Kid" Snyder of Youngstown fought eight rounds to a draw Thursday night in the main go of the Elks stag party. The fighters weighed in at 135 pounds.

Aggressiveness featured the eight rounds with both fighters milling freely and especially effective at infighting. Wallace displayed the greater amount of ring generalship which was balanced by Snyder's aggressiveness.

The first two rounds were slow, both boxers feeling out the strength of the other, but with the start of the third round clever boxing with occasional toe to toe shugging was unceremonious. Snyder carried the fight to Wallace and the draw decision was granted by the 150 spectators at the ringside.

The chain raiser between "Young" Palermo of Sebring and "Billy" Brown of Alliance ended in the second round with Brown taking the count on a sledge hammer blow to the stomach. The boys fought at 110 pounds.

Six rounds of jugging was exhibited in the Jimmy Belfort-Tommy Dixon fight. The boys weighed 115 pounds. Belfort led the fighting and in the first and fourth rounds had Dixon greggy, felling him the first round with a right to the jaw and driving him against the ropes in the fourth round with rights and lefts to the jaw and stomach.

The feature bout of the card was one of six rounds between Tommy Beagle of Salem and K. O. Davis of Garrettsville. Beagle gained favor by leading the fighting throughout. Davis covered up effectively after the first round when Beagle floored him with a right to the jaw and followed with a left to the stomach. Davis came back strong, especially at infighting, and Beagle had his hands full.

The bout was fast and exciting. Beagle showed to great advantage in open fighting but took punishment in clinches, Davis showering short jabs to his stomach.

Beagle showed decided improvement over his last fight and Matchmaker Al Woods of Sebring, who promoted the fight Thursday night, is dicker for a bout for Beagle in Canton at the next show staged by Mike McKinney. Beagle is the possessor of a good punch, is an aggressive fighter and has good footwork.

Another fight carnival will be held in the near future with Beagle matched against one of the leading semi-finalists in Youngstown.

STATE CENSUS FOR DISABLED

Week of May 8 Will Be Rehabilitation Week.

OHIO SAYS, "THUMBS UP!"

Opportunities Presented For the Physically Handicapped In Ohio. State Medical Association to Assist In Developing a State Program. Provisions of New Rehabilitation Law—Chance For All to Do Good Turn.

The week of May 8th has been designated by Director of Education Vernon M. Hiegel as Rehabilitation Week. During this week citizens of Ohio are requested to refer to their local physician the name, address and nature of impairment of any physically handicapped person over 15 years of age who it is believed will profit by training to overcome a handicap. At the end of the week the physicians will forward the names to W. F. Shaw, Supervisor, Civilian Rehabilitation Service, State House Annex, Columbus, who will use this list in getting in touch with these men and women through representative citizens and agencies in the home communities.

The Purpose of the Law. Federal and state funds amounting to $109,420 for the current fiscal year have been made available for the rehabilitation of persons disabled in industry or otherwise. The service may be given to those for whom training is feasible and who are disabled because of industrial accidents, public accidents, disease or congenital impairment. To help the physically handicapped men and women in Ohio find suitable occupations, to see that they are trained acceptably for them, to give every reasonable assistance in finding employment upon completion of the training course, and to keep in touch with them thereafter until they demonstrate ability to make good in the chosen vocation. This is the purpose of the Civilian Rehabilitation law. The costs of tuition, tools, books and supplies are met from state and federal funds.

None of the funds are available for maintenance. Public and private institutions, placement training in business concerns, sometimes individual tutors, sometimes replacement to a new job, and in certain instances, correspondence courses are utilized in retraining. These courses are always given in the home community unless adequate facilities are not available there.

Who Are Eligible. In submitting names to your doctor bear in mind that all physically handicapped persons residing in Ohio are eligible for consideration except as follows:

1. Aged or helpless persons requiring permanent custodial care; or
2. Any person in any state institution or confined in any correctional or penal institution; or
3. Epileptic or feeble-minded persons or any person who, in the judgment of the State Board for Vocational Education, may not be susceptible of rehabilitation; or
4. Boys and girls who are not yet 16 years of age and who have not passed the seventh grade; or
5. Any person who is not a citizen of the United States, or who has not taken out his first papers, and who has not been living within the state for one year or more.

Present Status of the Work. Already training courses have been completed by 90 men and women, nearly all of whom have returned to employment on a better financial basis in spite of their disability and in the face of disturbed economic adjustments which necessarily followed the close of the war. Two hundred and sixty-eight others are now training in educational institutions, shops, factories and homes in 79 different communities.

Crippled Children's Week. During this same week of May 8 state officials representing the State Departments of Education, Health and Public Welfare, together with the Rotary clubs and the Ohio Society for Crippled Children, will be working zealously to secure the names of all of the more than 15,000 crippled girls and boys in Ohio. Any names of these children secured in connection with this appeal will be referred to these worthy organizations promptly.

Not a Charity. The civilian rehabilitation work is not administered on a charity basis. If training is necessary to overcome a handicap and is deemed feasible the training opportunity will be given. There is no reason for consigning our disabled men and women to a future which may be dependent upon a charity that will only mean an endless succession of idle days. It is good business and good common sense to train what is left so that an injured man may do an honest day's work, look his neighbor squarely in the eye, and draw a man's wage because he does a man's work. The appeal, therefore, is made to all citizens to assist through the local physicians in securing an accurate list of all disabled, handicapped men and women in Ohio.

TREAT SEED POTATOES TO PREVENT DISEASE

Treating seed potatoes with formaldehyde or corrosive sublimate to aid in the control of potato scab and Rhizoctonia or black scurf is recommended by plant pathologists of the experiment station.

The formaldehyde solution is prepared in a barrel by adding one pint of strong formaldehyde to each 30 gallons of water. The seed potatoes contained in gunny sacks, wire baskets, or crates are plunged into this solution and allowed to remain 1½ to 2 hours, then heaped on a clean floor and covered at once with sacks which have been sterilized in the same way and allowed to remain covered two hours, or if treated in sacks, they may be left in them two hours before spreading to dry.

The corrosive sublimate solution is prepared by dissolving 4 ounces of the sublimate in 30 gallons of water in a barrel. Uncut potatoes contained in sacks or crates are plunged into the solution for 1½ to 2 hours and are allowed to dry at once after removal from the barrel. Corrosive sublimate solution must be renewed after three treatments. Caution, corrosive sublimate is an active poison.

Head Stuffed By Catarrh or Cold? Use Healing Cream

If your nostrils are clogged, your throat distressed, or your head is stuffed by nasty catarrh or a cold, apply a little pure, antiseptic, germ destroying cream into your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage, soothing inflamed, swollen membranes and you get instant relief.

How good it feels. Your nostrils are open. Your head is clear. No more hawking, snuffling, dryness, or struggling for breath. Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from any druggist. Colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed up. Relief is sure.

Very Painful Dentistry.
Dwight Crittenden claims the distinction of being the first white man to have a tooth drawn by one of the colored doctors of the African Transvaal. The father of this well-known actor was a mining engineer in Kimberley. While a boy in South Africa shooting pains indicated that a molar must be extracted, and as Dwight Crittenden's father's mines were situated far from medical aid, one of the medicine men was summoned, and after performing a fantastic war dance to the accompaniment of a molar with the aid of a pair of engineer's pliers. An anesthetic was administered in the form of native incense, but Dwight contends that it only served to intensify the agony.

Of industrial accidents, almost 10 per cent are injuries to the eye.

"WHO'S WHO" WINS PASSPORT

Writer's Somewhat Caustic Comment on Authorities Would Seem to Have Some Justification.

A man who applied in New York for a passport recently was told that he must have a certificate of birth before the document could be issued. He had a passport issued during the war bearing the visa of several European countries. That passport bore the date of his birth. The passport was rejected because it was issued before 1917.

There was no time to send to Chicago for a copy of the certificate of birth. A certificate of baptism was offered and rejected, the explanation being that he might not have been baptized for years after his birth.

"What is your business?" asked the clerk. The applicant said that he was a writer. "Are you in 'Who's Who'?" was the next query and the answer was in the affirmative.

"That settles it," said the clerk. He got a copy of "Who's Who" and found that the brief biography gave the date of birth. The application was endorsed, "See 'Who's Who' edition of 1921, page thirty-nine," and the document was forwarded to Washington with the assurance that the passport would be back in a few days.

"The government," said the writer afterward, "will not take its own document and would not take my word, but accepted a printed biographical sketch which presumably I had written."

STOP RHEUMATISM WITH RED PEPPER

Rowles Red Pepper Rub, made from red peppers, costs little at any drug store. Get a jar at once. Use it for rheumatism, neuritis, backache, stiff neck, sore muscles, colds in chest. Almost instant relief awaits you. Be sure to get the genuine, with the name Rowles on each package.

The previous record, held by Mrs. Charlotte Boyle Clune, was 4 minutes 15 seconds.

DANGER IN BORING FOR OIL

Fuel Frequently Comes With Force and Suddenness That Workers Find Hard to Control.

Fuel oil, as a means of propulsion, has been gradually coming into favor for a number of years. The war increased its use in many ways, and the coal strike gave a nudge that may only be overcome when the comparative cost between coal and fuel oil gives the former the advantage. Boring for oil is often accomplished with danger to the men from the pent-up force which is released. The first indication that oil has been reached is a rush of gas and then comes oil, sometimes with such terrific force that it has been known to carry tools, gear and loose stones and earth to a great height. Large quantities of oil are often lost before a valve can be placed over the hole and a check put upon the gusher. So great is the pressure—it varies from 200 pounds to 1,000 pounds—that oil may spout hundreds of feet into the air. In Mexico, a few years ago, a column of oil reached 600 measured feet. It is unsuitable for use when first got out of the ground, owing to the mud it contains, but when this has settled to the bottom of the settling tank it is refined. First petrol and benzine are extracted by distillation before it is sent to the storage tanks to be used as crude oil. So far the method which finds most favor for burning oil in furnaces is known as the low pressure furnace, and is forced through pipes to the burner under the boiler in the form of a fine spray.

Stiff and Lame From Rheumatism

Don't drug kidneys but get a bottle of old reliable St. Jacobs Oil

St. Jacobs Oil stops any pain and rheumatism is pain only.

Not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Stop drugging! Rub, soothe, penetrating St. Jacobs Oil right into your sore, stiff, aching joints and relief comes instantly. St. Jacobs oil is a harmless rheumatism liniment which never disappoints and can not burn the skin.

Limber up! Quit complaining! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest St. Jacobs Oil at any drug store, and in just a moment you will be free from rheumatic pain, soreness and stiffness. Don't suffer! Relief awaits you. St. Jacobs Oil is just as good for sciatica, neuralgia, lumbago, backache, sprains.

A compilation of the last census figures show that 50% of the entire population, 10 years of age or over, were engaged in some gainful occupation.

PREPARING ALIENS FOR CITIZENSHIP

SECRETARY OF LABOR DAVIS HAS COME FORWARD WITH COMPREHENSIVE PLAN.

TO COMBAT RED PROPAGANDA

Has in Mind the Establishment of a Broad Educational System, Under the Control of His Department, for the Purpose.

Washington.—It has recently been pointed out that this country has let the alien newcomer roam about the country to find a job and find a home, and to become a citizen pretty much without help or guidance. He came over here in the steerage and he needs steering still. He is still a child in our ways, with no knowledge of the immense new privileges he enjoys. Secretary of Labor Davis wants Uncle Sam to keep track of that man—not to regulate him, but to help him, to teach and encourage him. He wants Uncle Sam not in the attitude of a policeman but of a friend, a true uncle.

He wants to see every school in the country devote its after hours to the schooling of these prospective and receptive new citizens. We need to know how they are forging on as wage-earners and as members of our free society, he argues. We need to know the whereabouts of these people if it is only to protect them from the insidious poison of red propaganda, which from personal knowledge he feels to be an ever-present danger. We need all the educational machinery we can organize to battle this evil influence, Secretary Davis says.

He would have every immigrant register, wherever he is, every year—not in order to spy upon him, but only to be sure of his safety, so that we can reach him to teach him. Just as American citizens pay a poll tax for the privilege of voting, Secretary Davis believes the new alien should pay a nominal fee for his certificate of registry.

A very small fee from several million aliens would amply provide the Department of Labor, he estimates, with funds sufficient for the upkeep of a broad educational system, such as he has in mind—to run our schools as schools of citizenship for these older citizens.

Seeks Bureau of Recreation.

One of the most effective ways of making citizenship attractive to all, to newcomer and to old-timer, broadens out of his plan of registry and revenue. He is going to ask congress to give him authority to set up a bureau of recreation for all America. He intends this bureau to be dedicated to the proposition that "recreation is the big brother of education."

That bureau should be shaped, according to his vision, so as to bring wholesome and healthful amusement into the lives of our people. As soon as times improve he intends to push practical plans toward that end. Such a bureau of recreation would naturally belong under the wing of the Department of Labor, because the great ranks of the American people are the workers, he says. Their lives have been dull enough, and he knows all this, because he, as an immigrant, worked as puddler in the iron and steel mills.

Secretary Davis quotes his friend John Golden of New York, the prominent theatrical producer:

"This bureau would grasp with its kindly, encouraging arms every possible recreative movement of the average people. Its powerful and wise operations cannot help but make for better citizenship and a happier people."

British Inspecting Our Army.

Col. M. L. Wilkinson of the royal artillery, Capt. J. D. Pratt, executive officer of the branch in the British army that corresponds to our chemical warfare service, and Dr. G. Rotter, a civilian expert attached to the British ordnance office, are in this country for the purpose of visiting arsenals, army posts and service schools and obtaining information concerning the developments we have made in artillery and chemical warfare since the World war. Their itinerary now is being prepared in the War department.

Notwithstanding treaty provisions inhibiting the use of toxic fluids in war, Great Britain is preparing to develop and maintain a branch of her service that will be ready for defensive functions in the event an enemy employs chemical warfare. It is for the same purpose that our own chemical warfare service will be continued.

Taft Would Curb Athletics. Chief Justice Taft, speaking at a meeting of the Yale Alumni association, of which he is honorary president, said he believed that the growth of big collegiate athletic exhibitions was militating against the intellectual life of the institutions and should be curtailed. Athletic contests in the form of great public exhibitions, he said, were not helping the educational purposes for which the institutions were founded.

"These games for the entertainment and edification of the people are not really for the good of the universities," he remarked. "I would be glad to see a stop put to them and rejoice to see several institutions leading to that end. That will bring about a proper sense of proportion of what a university is for. Its object is to promote learning, and athletics are drawing the attention of students away from this. I am hopeful the tendency is the other way now."

CITY OF NORFOLK FULL OF INTEREST

ONE OF THE GREAT PORTS OF
THE ATLANTIC COAST AND CENTER OF TRADITION.

OLD CHURCH WAS BOMBARDED

Bears Big Dent From English Cannon
Ball—Navy Yard Where the Merrimac Was Made an Ironclad Is Nearby.

Washington.—Crowds still are coming to Washington to see the capital of their country and its environment in the spring time. Washington not only stands as the capital of the Union with all the interest which attaches to it as such, but it is close to a country made historic by the events of three wars—the Revolution, the War of 1812, and the war between the states.

Prior to this time the writer has written of Annapolis, of Yorktown and of Jamestown, places which fully one-third of the people who come to the capital from the north, the west and the farther south visit when they make their journey to this place of national legislation and national administration.

Norfolk is in Virginia some distance away, but Norfolk draws its quota of Washington visitors. It is one of the great ports of the American coast, thriving in a business way and surcharged with tradition. Norfolk was what might be called the center of the Jamestown exposition of the year 1907, for while it was five miles from the fair site, it was in Norfolk that the most of the visitors stayed who had been drawn to the great fair.

Recently I went to this Virginia city, drawn there by the lure which attracts the visitors from a distance. Norfolk is not a huge city, but in sections it looks like a metropolis. It has great business houses and large hotels. For some reason or other the writer likes to visit churches, although he lays no claim to any stronger religious conviction than is possessed by most men whose habits of life are ordinary like his own.

An Interesting Old Church.

All the churches in this part of the country are rich in tradition and to neglect them is to lose much. Cut out the inscribed virtues of the deceased and you can get history from a tombstone that you can't get from a book. All these churches have graveyards under their walls.

St. Paul's, Norfolk, was erected on "the road leading out of town." When the road became a street it was called Church street in honor of the sanctuary. The structure was built in 1739 on ground given to the congregation by Samuel Boush, who, by the way, was the first mayor of the borough of Norfolk. There is a stream flowing through the old exposition grounds which takes its name from Mayor Boush. It is an attractive monument to him, and if the rains and the springs hold out it is likely to be a lasting one.

The initials of Mr. Boush's name are cut in huge capital letters in the brick walls of the church, and not far away is the big dent left by a cannon ball which the British fired at the sanctuary in the war of the Revolution, caring little that the building harbored a congregation of the faith of the bombardiers. St. Paul's escaped destruction by shot and fire that day by the narrowest of margins. Some of the woodwork was destroyed by the flames, but the walls stood, and today they are as they were in colonial times. The mark left by the cannon ball which struck the church is held as a mark of honor by the congregation that worships at St. Paul's.

Navy Yard Is Nearby.
Directly across the Elizabeth river is Portsmouth, a town that has a navy yard and a history as the chief attraction for visitors. The Portsmouth navy yard is called the Norfolk navy yard, not because, as the local humorists say, it is not in Norfolk, but because there is a navy yard at Portsmouth, N. H., and the government officials wish to avoid confusion.

When the Civil war broke out the confederates were unable to seize Fortress Monroe, which is only a few miles from Portsmouth, but they did seize and hold the navy yard, and its possession by the enemy cost the United States many men and many millions. It was here that the old frigate Merrimac was transformed into the ironclad that sunk the federal frigate Cumberland, menaced the entire fleet of wooden vessels and was prevented from completing the work of destruction only by the arrival of the Monitor. There is a "Trophy Point" at Portsmouth, where are gathered relics of many wars.

The James river is what some of the river men call a "twister." Its windings for the greater part are banked with natural beauties. You catch a passing glimpse of the old-time plantation life of Virginia from the boat that takes you to Richmond. It is not long after Jamestown is passed that the broad stream begins its tortuous course and narrows so that a close view of the places of ancient and modern interest that crowd one upon another comes to the traveler.

JUDGE WORLEY REFUSES NEW RILEY CASE TRIAL; PROSECUTOR TO APPEAL

Judge John B. Worley heard the arguments in support of the motion to set aside the $12,625 verdict which was last week awarded Mrs. Frank Sauerwein, formerly Miss Peary K. Riley of Salem, against the board of county commissioners and promptly overruled the same.

The motion for a new trial was argued by Prosecuting Attorney Jesse Hanley who urged 14 reasons why the verdict should be set aside and a new trial granted.

Prosecuting Attorney Hanley has announced that he will carry the case to the court of appeals on both error and appeal, and the case will doubtless be presented before that court during the week of Nov. 15, when the court will next be in session in Lisbon.

The costs in the case have not been listed, but the jury alone cost between four and five hundred dollars, all of which will fall upon the county.

MOORE CONFESSES HE DOESN'T LIKE POLITICS

Columbus, April 28.—Ohio politicians positively were shocked today when they heard a confession.
For years they had pictured Edmund H. Moore of Youngstown, former Democratic National committee man, the man who "held the lines" and forced the nomination of former Governor James M. Cox for the Presidency at San Francisco, as fairly doting on politics.

But he admitted today it was all a mistake. He had completed an argument in the supreme court when he asserted to an interviewer that he knew no political developments and was not interested.

"Really, I do not like politics," said Mr. Moore. "Really, I do not."

THEY know how to buy food, how to cook it and how to keep it so that flavor and nourishment are fully retained. That's the whole secret.

No well-informed housewife, for instance, would be without ice in early Spring. The weather is too changeable; the temperature is too warm. The food might not spoil so badly that it could not be used; but it would lose the appetizing flavor which makes eating a pleasure and it would have less of the nourishing quality which your children especially need.

From now on, ice should be taken regularly. It actually saves money.

HIGHWAY WORK NOT HELD UP

Herrick Denies That Lack of Funds Will Halt Program.

DIRECTOR ISSUES STATEMENT

Admits, However, That Several Large Projects Are Held Up at Washington, Waiting For Federal Approval. Supreme Court's Ruling on Occupational Diseases of Great Importance to Workers—Educational Requirements of Trained Nurses.

Columbus, April 27.—Work on Ohio roads is not being held up because of lack of funds, and it will not be necessary to delay the work until aid is obtained from the federal government, declared Leon C. Herrick, director of highways, in denying the rumor that lack of funds would seriously hamper the department this summer in its road building program. Herrick, however, said: "We have had several of our largest projects held up at Washington during the past two months waiting for federal approval in order to continue our program."

No little excitement was caused among the Ohio congressmen this week in Washington, according to a Washington dispatch, in which it is alleged Herrick in a long distance call to Washington had asserted road work in Ohio had stopped until officials at Washington act on the distribution of federal funds for road building in the states and give Ohio her share of the funds.

Representative Cable, to whom Herrick directed the call, arranged for a conference with Thomas H. McDonald, director of public roads, according to the dispatch, which stated McDonald claimed the fault was not in Washington, but in Ohio, and that the delay had been caused by the failure of Ohio officials to send the proper vouchers in Washington.

In reply to this statement Herrick said vouchers were sent in only when work is being done in the state and that at the present time there is no construction work going on in the state.

"I can not understand the attitude taken by Washington officials in the matter," Herrick stated. "The only appeal that I made was to hasten the approval of plans at Washington so that we would continue our 1922 program."

McDonald is not to blame for the apparent misunderstanding, Herrick said. "He has done everything in his power to help out the road construction work in this state." Director Herrick said there has been considerable trouble between Washington officials and the state highway department in the past, which he attributed mainly to one member of the federal bureau of roads.

The supreme court this week handed down a decision concerning the contracting of ordinary diseases, contracted by reason of one's employment, that doubtless will serve as a guide for the industrial commission in making compensation awards in death from occupational diseases and will be of grave importance to working men of Ohio.

The case was that of Mary Cross, Cincinnati, who was awarded $5,000 by the lower courts of Hamilton county for the death of her husband, who died of typhoid fever, alleged to have been contracted from water he was given to drink while in the employ of the park department of Cincinnati.

The supreme court reversed the lower court and held any ordinary disease, even though contracted because of and arising out of working conditions, is not an occupational disease within the statute, and that the commission was justified in refusing an award in such a case.

Following the decision of the court, attorneys in Columbus declared that had the court upheld the award the commission would have been swamped with claims for awards for sickness and death alleged to have been caused by unsanitary and unhygienic conditions.

Columbus Academy of Medicine has joined with similar bodies in Cleveland, Cincinnati, Springfield and other cities in condemning the attempt to lessen the educational and training requirements for nurses in Ohio.

A resolution presented to the academy asking that the one-year high school requirement be removed and that the training period be reduced from three to two years was turned down almost unanimously by the board and another resolution branding the attempt at lowering the standards as "destructive and un-American" was adopted by the academy. Delegates to the state medical convention next week at Cincinnati were instructed to vote against such a proposal if it is brought up before that body. The matter is to be considered also by the Ohio Association of Graduate Nurses at the convention next week in Dayton.

Announcement of examinations to be held soon for the purpose of filling several vacancies at the United States army reserve depot in Columbus.

READ THE WANT COLUMN.

was made this week by the United States civil service commission. The vacancies include assistant storekeepers at salaries from $1,200 to $1,500 a year, and a captain of the civilian guard at $1,800 a year. Examinations for guards will be held also. The captain of the guard position requires a man of common school education with at least two years' experience in an executive position, either as a captain in charge of a civilian guard or a commission in the army.

Applicants for the position of assistant storekeeper will be examined in spelling, arithmetic, penmanship and copying and correcting manuscript. They also must have had experience of at least six months in lines of work similar to that at the depot.

The film "Arabian Nights," the rejection of which a few weeks ago by the state censor caused such an uproar among moving picture distributors of Ohio, has finally been passed by the board and will be permitted to show in Ohio theaters.

The picture, however, is not the same as the one rejected, according to Mrs. Snow, state censor, who says the objectionable features have been eliminated.

In a statement made public, following the passing of the picture Mrs. Snow said: "Owing to the fact that the picture 'One Arabian Night' was the subject of much comment at the time of its first submission and subsequent rejection in this office, I feel that a statement as to my reasons for passing the picture is called for."

"In the first place, this picture has been cleaned up insofar as certain objectionable scenes, incidents and titles to which we objected, are concerned. Contrary to many published reports, I have always felt that this film was a very beautiful thing, presenting, as it does, the fascinating atmosphere of the Arabian Night tales, with elaborate and artistic settings and acting of a very high order."

"The task of reconstruction was no easy one, having as its object the elimination of certain ideas which seem to form the accepted standard of European films, but which do not conform to the mental and moral standards of America."

Rates for electric service charged by the Mt. Victory Electric Light and Power company were ruled excessive by the state public utilities commission, which ordered a new schedule providing for a return of 8 per cent on the valuation of the company property.

The company is ordered also to return to its patrons the difference in the two rates paid since Nov. 1, 1921.

Charges heretofore imposed were: Lighting, 9 cents for each kilowatt hour, or a minimum of $1 a month, with power rates ranging from 9 cents per kilowatt hour for motors under two and a half horsepower to 5 cents for higher horsepower and heavier service. Proposed rates were 13 cents for the first kilowatt hour and 12 cents for all over 100, subject to 1 cent per kilowatt hour discount if paid within 10 days, for lighting, with power rates ranging from 13 cents down to 6. The rates ordered range from 11 to 7 cents for lighting, and from 7 to 5 for power.

The recent decision of the United States supreme court that a sentence at "hard labor" is an infamous punishment and that a person can not be given such a sentence without a trial by jury, may practically depopulate Ohio workhouses, and even lay judges passing such sentences liable for damages, was the opinion expressed this week by Columbus attorneys.

The greatest effect of the decision, say attorneys, is that it will greatly abridge the power of municipal, police and juvenile courts and practically abolish workhouse sentences without a jury trial.

The decision is based on the fifth amendment to the federal constitution, which says: "No person shall be held to answer for a capital or otherwise infamous crime unless upon a presentment or indictment by a grand jury." The decision says in part: "When an accused is in danger of an infamous punishment, if convicted, he has a right to insist that he be not put upon trial except on the accusation of a grand jury."

The decision followed the appeal of a man sentenced to six months at hard labor for failure to provide for his family.

MIMICRY SOMETIMES FAULTY

How William Brewster Taught One to Imitate the Yellow-Leg Plover's
Call—Few of These Singers Now
Found in Captivity.

Washington.—Once in a while even a reporter of things executive, legislative and judicial can get away from the asphalted streets of Washington into the alluring country which lies without the city walls. From the house to the bird is only a step.

In the cedar trees which line the road along the Potomac beyond Cabin John Bridge the mocking birds today are singing. The catbirds and the brown thrashers are trying to rival the mockers' song and the thrashers come pretty close to success. All the roads leading out of Washington today are enlivened with song. A spring walk in the Potomac valley is an interesting one.

The mocking birds stay in Washington in small numbers in winter. A few additional mockers come up out of the South, some of them passing on to Connecticut and southern Pennsylvania to nest, while the rest prefer to stay in the Potomac country to house-sit with the little winter colony of their brothers and sisters.

The mocking bird is not always a mocker. Its own song is fine enough to satisfy the lover of music. When the mocker-mocks it does not always do the job perfectly. It has to train itself to the work, and some of its attempts make one laugh.

Occasionally, however, the mocking bird acquires a perfect power of mimicry. The other day from a thick growing cedar at the side of the Potomac roadway came the full song of a brown thrasher. In a few moments from the same tree came the song of a catbird with the "meow" thrown into the midst of its music. Then came the native song of the mocking bird. There was only one bird in the tree. Of course it was the mocking bird.

Had Quail's Call, but Not Plover's.

Dr. A. K. Fisher of the biological survey, the hawk and owl authority, and a man surcharged with bird knowledge of all kinds, was walking along the Cabin John Bridge road one day when he heard the call of the quail, not the familiar "Bob White," but the "quail" note of the bird. Quail was not uncommon in the Potomac country, and the doctor paid little attention until a movement in the bushes caught his eye and he discovered that a mocking bird which was rendering the quail call as perfectly as any Bob White could do it.

The late William Brewster of Cambridge, Mass., a noted ornithologist, was in North Carolina on a bird study trip some years ago. The spring migration was on and there was a flight of yellow-leg plover. The yellow-leg's call is known to every sportsman. The day after the flight Mr. Brewster found a mocking bird which was trying its hardest to imitate the plover's note, but it was making bad work of it.

The Cambridge ornithologist was a good deal of a mimic himself. He undertook to teach the mocker. He spent an hour or two with it whistling the yellow-leg's call. The bird would take it up after each pause, and by the time the teacher was through the pupil was nearly perfect in his plover lesson.

Few Mockers in Captivity.

You can search the country today for caged mocking birds, and after the search is over you probably can count on your ten fingers the number of prisoners found. It is against the law of every state in the Union either to trap or kill migrating birds. Before the American Ornithologists' union and the Audubon societies were organized thousands of trapped mocking birds were sold every year. The temptation of the Northern market was such that a thriving trade in mockers developed in the South. Boys used to enter the gardens of the Southerners and rob the mocking birds' nests of the young birds which were just about ready to fly. In addition to this the male birds were trapped in large numbers.

Southern women began to write letters to the bird protectors of the North asking if the markets could not be closed. An attempt was made and it failed. Later the laws were perfected and now a caged mocking bird, largely, is a rarity.

The undergrowth along the banks of the Potomac is a favorite resort of the Kentucky cardinal, sometimes known as the Virginia nightingale, and also more properly as the cardinal grosbeak. The cardinal is a rare whistler. It is a commanding bird with its plumed helmet, its upstanding tail and its brilliant feathers. Once on a time they caged the cardinals just as they caged the mockers and the story of their rescue from duress is the same as the tale told of the mockers' release.

High Cost of Beauty.

Fifty million dollars is the estimated total spent by American women every year for powdering and beautifying their faces.

Our family consists of my father and mother, myself and my sister, who is several years younger than I am. Returning home unexpectedly after a long absence in China, I walked in unannounced. About the time my father and mother and I were through hugging each other, a young girl of nineteen entered the room. I grabbed her in my arms, kissed her and said, "Kid, if you were not my sister I would fall in love with you." "I am not your sister," said a smothered voice. And she wasn't. But I kept my promise.

Filson Admirer Writes Flowery Tribute To Voice

We decided to attend the Community concert because we anticipated an unusual musical evening. Our Mr. Filson drew a large house. To this he was entitled for his reputation as a singer of note has been established. A gifted voice artistically trained in beautiful rises and falls sent forth his harmony and melody in pure, simple, natural, engaging tones so easy and yet so refined the audience, extremely receptive, followed enraptured.

To us it seemed an arousing of the emotions, a captivation of the soul, ending in its edification and exaltation. A dreamy quiet hum from the house, a suspense and when the song was ended an outburst of applause, a relieving of the pent up feelings calling for repetition, a wishing to be again feasted on what we consider one of the greatest and purest intellectual engagements. Mr. Filson accomplished this end.

Mr. Truxell presided at the piano. He is an artist clear in conception, prompt in response, finished in execution. What a physical and mental picture is afforded, what an education was involved to produce these volumes of melody, of harmony, of shades and moods and their expressions.

The work of a master interpreted by an artist, giving to the audience that mystic something inexpressible, touching, effective, elevating.

As volume upon volume of musical sound clear and distinct, filled space we sat in amazement, then in deep thought, divining what delicately attuned instrument is man, how in finite are his possibilities, how wonderful the finished work, how excellent the gift rendered.

The soprano voice has its fascination. It is so unlike any other sound, distinctive and peculiarly attractive. Its clear high notes remind us of the song birds, nature's prototype, with whom we are familiar.

Hence it is that this voice comes nearest giving us what we enjoy more by instinct than as the results of efforts or education.

If we be moved by such a voice we may conclude that it possesses the primary qualities—naturalness, sweetness, volume and range. We think Mrs. Smith's voice has these qualities.

After all a mixed house is the best judge of these varied attainments.

Of this we are certain—the audience was receptive, responsive to all the numbers rendered and we can conclude this to be the highest reward an artist may aspire to.

AN ADMIRER.

New York—Frederick Van Rensselaer Dey, famous author of the "Nick Carter" detective stories, has taken his own life. Dey was 61 years of age.

County Churches Unite To Combat Sunday Movies

Lisbon, April 28.—A county conference of the federated churches of Columbiana county will be held in a Methodist Episcopal church here Oct. 15 to lend force in combating any legislation which may be presented during the next session of the state legislature by moving picture interests seeking the passage of a law which would permit the opening of picture shows on Sunday.

Of the 88 counties in Ohio, 49 are now organized for this purpose. It is contended by the Rev. Peter Wilson Macauley of the Lisbon Presbyterian church, county chairman of the Federated Church movement, that the remaining 39 counties will be organized on or before December. No moving picture houses in Columbiana county now are open on Sunday. No objection has developed to theaters being open in Youngstown on that day. Should the picture interests stage a fight in Columbus during the next legislature to amend laws now a matter of record, the Ohio Federation of Churches will be ready to introduce counter bills. This event has been made quite plain.

Youngstown—Rev. George L. Ford, secretary of the Federated churches, has written Will H. Hays commending him for his refusal to permit showing of Arbuckle films.

Fourteen wireless stations are to be erected in Equador by a French company.

DISLIKE TO SEE ARMY POSTS GO

RESIDENTS OF VICINITIES IN WHICH THEY ARE LOCATED SET STORE ON THEM.

CONSIDERED AS SHOW PLACES

Also of Some Consequence From a Commercial Standpoint, but Reduction of the Country's Military Forces
Will Force the Closing of Many.

Washington.—When the proposal first was made to cut the army down to 115,000 men, Secretary of War Weeks somewhat cannily expressed the belief publicly that if the army thus were reduced it would be necessary to abandon a great number of army posts.

Now, if there is one thing which a member of congress wishes to avoid, it is the abandonment of the army post which happens to be in his home district. So it may have been, and perhaps was, that Secretary of War Weeks had this in mind when he issued his word of what might be called warning.

There are not as many army posts in the United States today as once there were, but there are a good many of them scattered all over the country and which are garrisoned by comparatively few troops, but enough to add a little something of the pomp of military affairs to the vicinity in which they are quartered. Moreover, the purchasing power of the troops is considerable, and therefore the localities in which they are stationed benefit in the matter of trade.

Some of the posts are located near great cities and some of them are near small towns, but they are all in a sense show places, and hand concerts and parades offer their attractions to the neighboring people. It is perhaps possible that Americans generally desire that the army shall be cut down, but it is certain that every American who lives near an army post desires that in the cutting down process the home garrison shall not be included.

Farmer Won Out.

The people take a sort of proprietary interest in the garrisons near their homes. There are cases where the home folk have taken too much of a proprietary interest. There is an army story, the truth of which is vouched for by a veteran of the service, which was told to the writer here at the Army and Navy club the other day. The veteran said that years ago the commandant of a western post concluded to make a new parade and drill ground for the troops. The government reservation was a large one and he selected a place for the parade ground and proceeded to lay it out. He found that it had been the custom of years of a farmer who lived just outside of the reservation to pasture his cattle on government ground, the place which had been chosen for parade and drilling purposes.

After the drill ground was finished the farmer continued to turn his cows in. The commandant shut them out. The farmer telegraphed to his representative in congress and within 48 hours an order came from the War department that the cows were to be allowed to have grazing privileges on the parade ground, but if necessary the soldiers might be allowed to divide the time with them, the cows grazing half a day and the soldiers drilling the other half.

There are still existing some few army posts which in the old days were isolated, some of them being three or four hundred miles from a railroad. Those were the days of Indian warfare, and many stirring events happened in places which are now almost in the heart of civilization. There may be met in Washington today many old soldiers who saw duty in such at present thickly populated states as Nebraska and Kansas in the days when the Comanches, the Kiowas and the Arapahoes were ravaging the frontier.

"Political" Army Posts.

There are in the United States several posts which are known as political posts. The army experts knew where the garrison should be located, and would make their recommendations, but congress in later years never has paid any attention to expert opinion on these matters. There is no excuse for the existence as army posts of several of the greatest garrisons in the United States. They are where they are because some senator or representative had a pull sufficient to secure their location in the home district, or in the home state.

The regular army of the United States hereafter is to be used apparently only for police duty. The first element necessary for proper home defense in case of riotous demonstrations against the authority of the United States government is that troops shall be located within easy railroad access of the places where such troubles are most likely to occur. When one great garrison was established it was figured out that it would take five days to get the great body of troops there stationed to the nearest point of probable danger. Such posts are called political posts.

If the army is to be reduced to 115,000 men, and as a natural consequence many army posts are to be abandoned, there will be some interesting scenes in certain offices of the War department and not infrequently perhaps in the office of the President of the United States.

DEALERS SEE INCREASE IN SHOE PRICES UNDER PROPOSED HIDES TARIFF

Between $100,000,000 and $150,000,000 a year would be added to America's boot and shoe bill by the tax on hides put into the tariff bill which was reported into the United States senate by the senate finance committee. So says the shoe trade, which is preparing for a battle to free hides, free leather, and free shoes.

Manufacturers estimate that the proposed duty on hides would slap 50 cents to 75 cents more on the cost of a pair of brogans, while the public is yelling for cheaper footwear. Cattle raisers are asking for the duty on hides, deeming it a good thing for the cattle industry. The farmers, on the other hand, seem to be taking a different slant, and the American Farm Bureau filed a brief with the senate finance committee urging that hides, leather, and leather products should remain on the free list.

Farmer Might Be Hit

The farmer, the brief pointed out, would come at the wrong end of the horn. Even if a duty on hides should give him an increased return from his cattle, it would be more than offset by the boost in the cost of boots, shoes, harness and other leather products.

Critics of the bill as it stands point out that hides have been on the free list as a traditional policy, with the exception of one period from 1897 to 1909.

Chief benefit of a hide tariff would go to the packers the critics say.

The United States does not raise cattle enough to supply its hide demand. The annual hide consumption is around 1,550,000,000 pounds and the American production is about 550,000,000, meaning that about 40 per cent has to be imported. If imports kept up as they have during the last ten years, a duty on cattle hides, it is estimated by the farm bureau federation, would yield a customs revenue of about $16,000,000. As against this between $100,000,000 and $150,000,000, by another estimate, would be added to the cost of the 200,000,000 pairs of shoes used in America each year.

A campaign has been launched by the "National Shoe Retailers' association and the National Association of Shoe Manufacturers to get congressmen to write senators and representatives to vote for free hides.

COUNTY SELECTS ROUTE FOR SALINEVILLE ROAD

Lisbon, April 28.—County commissioners will have a conference with officials of the Big Vein company of Cleveland Friday to discuss the sale by the coal interests to the county of the railroad siding extending through F-dahl hollow in Washington township which is desired as a link in the new Salineville-Wellsville inter-county highway.

It has also been made plain that the new Salineville-Wellsville road will follow the Settles Lake route notwithstanding the fact that the commissioners have received a petition signed by a number of farmers offering free right of way providing the proposed road should follow the present traveled highway, or Ridge rd.

High School AUDITORIUM TONIGHT ONLY MARION DAVIES IN "ENCHANTMENT"

"ENCHANTMENT" is a glorious story of youth, love and adventure. It describes the most interesting age of all—the "flapper" age, wherein the girl is most conscious of her charms, is most amusing and most lovable to all who know her.

"Enchantment" tells the story of a period in an attractive girl's life when she boasts, in her diary, that she is irresistible. She knows she holds the same power to enthrall men that enabled Cleopatra, Helen of Troy and Du Barry to make history. She is a trial to her family and her friends. Before she emerges from her "attack" she makes a history—although it is but family history.

The talented young Marion Davis is the star, supported by Forrest Stanley as leading man; Tom Lewis playing the role of the father; Edith Shayne in the part of her mother, and other notable players of the screen.

Robert G. Vignola directed the production. Luther Reed wrote the scenario from the famous story, "Manhandling Ethel," by Frank R. Adams in the Cosmopolitan Magazine. The settings are by Joseph Urban.
